This fortnight in class, we are looking at changes to school life throughout history.

Interview your grandparents (if possible) or your parents to find the answers to the following questions about their school days.

What kind of desks did you have to sit at? What were they made of?
What kind of games did you play outside?
What was the uniform like, that you wore?
What kind of lessons did they teach you at school?

Extension: You may like to record your own answers to these questions to compare what from when your grand/parents went to school to now. You could present your answers in a ‘t-chart’ with the headings, ‘then’ and ‘now’.
